Varsity Ready For Season's Big Game

Team Getting in Trim for Thanksgiving Contest Against Catholic University—Injured Players Will Be Back in the Game—Honor Societies Plan Rally for University Students

George Washington University students are going to unite as one on Thanksgiving Day at the football game, when the varsity eleven plays Catholic University. This is going to be the biggest game of the season, and the University is planning a few stunts that will make the event linger long in the memory of everyone who attends the game.

When George Washington University students file in just before the big game starts on Thanksgiving Day, they will be "grabbed" as they enter the gates and segregated. There will be no getting out of it. And just as the game starts G. W. U. men and women thus lined up will start a big snake dance about the grounds.

Our game with Catholic University is counted as the biggest football game of the year, not only from the standpoint of gridiron tactics, but because of the whole-hearted spirit that will be right behind every one of our men in the line-up and in the backfield.

Harold "Bish" Kay, the husky half-back who has been doing such good work for George Washington, will be in trim again. He has quite recovered from the bruises sustained in the games with West Virginia and Villanova. Captain Harry Hawley also reports the line will be stronger than ever before. Every indication is that George Washington will make good its claim Thanksgiving Day to a place in the football horizon of eastern college sports.

The snake dance, which will introduce the rival team to the grandstand, is being arranged by the Pyramid Honor Society for the men and the Sphinx Senior Honor Society for the women.

Yellmaster W. W. (Red) McCaslin will have his deputy yellmasters all dolled up in white trousers and college caps. They will keep the cheering going all the time. And to inspire the students to give their keenest moral support in the grand stand, special yell practices have been arranged for by Yellmaster McCaslin and the Pyramid and Sphinx Honor Societies in the various schools of the University, at which the students will be taught all the latest yells and songs of the institution.

On November 23 a part of the class time has been allotted to student body meetings through the kindness of the deans of the various schools. These meetings will be addressed by Dean William Allen Wilbur, of Columbian College; Dr. W. C. Borden, dean of the Medical College; Commander W. H. Stayton, of the Class of '39; Prof. Leavitt, of the Law School; Bryan Morse, and Yellmaster McCaslin.

Be prepared to attend these meetings, students. Learn the songs and yells of the University. Make the Thanksgiving Day game a real, spirited, college assemblage.

Forget dignity and all the other drawbacks to enthusiasm for just once. Join in the carnival of laughter, hand-clapping, shouting, screaming and yelling. But when the time comes for organized effort with lusty voices and lively shouting, be right there to put George Washington University on the map Thanksgiving Day as the most enthusiastic aggregation of "honest-to-gawd" college men and women in Washington.

As you enter the grounds Thanksgiving Day morning, look for Gene Underwood, Johnny Townsend, Cameron Burton and Yellmaster McCaslin. They will help you expedite matters so you can properly shake your legs about the gridiron for the preliminary snake dance. Don't try to crawlfish out of the stunt on account of awkwardness. That's no excuse, because a snake dance is not prescribed for those learned in terpsichorean graces.

As long as you can squirm and jump and step lively, whether it be upon the principles of ballroom etiquette or "squads right and squads left," you are the man or woman we're looking for. And that lets in everybody. Don't forget—Thanksgiving Day morning!

HATCHET ON FILE.

Copies of The Hatchet are to be placed on file in the Law, Arts and Sciences and Medical School libraries.

A RALLY.

A rousing rally will be held in the Medical Building Tuesday evening, November 22, to enable all backers of the Buff and Blue to warm up for the game with C. U. Songs and yells will be practiced and the snake dance planned.

PROF. DOYLE APPOINTED TO BOARD OF MANAGERS

Will Succeed Prof. Halsey As Representative From Arts and Science Department.

Early this week announcement was made of the appointment of Prof. Henry Gratton Doyle to the Board of Managers, to succeed Prof. Halsey as representative of the Arts and Science Department. Prof. Doyle has been prominent in the activities of the University ever since he came here in the fall of 1916, so that his appointment is heralded as an indication of the University's progress in the promotion of Student Activities.

Prof. Doyle served on the Board of Managers last year before re-organization, as the Columbian College representative. The new member stated he intended "to continue to follow his policy of standing for a bigger and better G. W. U. each year," and this statement has been borne out by his unceasing efforts in behalf of the University.

Prof. Doyle is a Harvard man, receiving the degree of A. B. there in 1911 and the A. M. degree in 1912. Following this, he taught French and Spanish at Harvard for three years, after which he came to George Washington to teach the same subjects. He is a member of the Harvard Clubs of Boston, New York and Washington.

Since his graduation from Harvard, Prof. Doyle has been actively engaged in a number of educational organizations and movements. He is now president of the newly organized Faculty Club of George Washington; national vice president of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish; and on the staff of the Journal of Education, published at Boston. He is "Modern Language" Editor.

Prof. Doyle is also a member of the Modern Language Association, American Association of University Professors, American Dialect Society, and the International Phonetic Association.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Sophomores of the University:
Why is it that you do not support to greater extent the activities of your class by attending the class meetings and helping to formulate plans by which to make the sophomore class "the" class of the University? There can be no reason for the very noticeable lack of interest after the election except that you do not want to support those to whom, by your electing them to the positions which they now occupy as officers of your class, you pledged your support and cooperation. Instead of cutting the class meetings in favor of a trip to the movies or the like, cut these for once and come out to the class meeting, and when not at class meeting support for all you are worth the activities in which your class is interested.

The sophomore class of the University, being the largest class, should take the foremost part in all activities, and with your support it can do so. Remember that it is not only for this year that we are planning but that in order to make the junior and senior years of our class a success we must form a strong organization now.

This is directed not only to the men of the University but to the co-eds as well; and not only to the night school students but to those who attend the day school, for it is these last who should form the very nucleus of the class organization. We who have been at the meetings and who are working for the success of the class want your cooperation. ARE WE GOING TO GET IT? Get together and come out to the class meetings, the tug-of-war, and anything else which the class may see fit to enter into.

J. JOS. A. PALMER,
Columbian College, '23.

HATCHET NEEDS MEN.

The Hatchet Staff is in need of more reporters. Any student in the University who is taking at least nine hours is eligible. Day students who have an interest in this kind of work and who have the time to adequately attend to the work are urged to lend their assistance. Any student who applies will be given an opportunity to try out his talents.

ACTIVITY TICKETS AS HALF ADMISSION

Student Activity tickets will be counted as half admission for the George Washington-Catholic University football game Thanksgiving Day. The price of admission to the game is $1.50. The Activity ticket, plus seventy-five cents, admits the holder to the game. Arrangements were completed a year ago with Catholic University for the Thanksgiving Day game. The profits are to be shared alike by the institutions after expenses are deducted. While G. W. U. students may have some cause for complaint it must be borne in mind that Catholic University is doing the same thing with its students, who are taxed $25 a year; compulsory tax for athletics.

FRESHMEN HOLD A SPIRITED MEETING

Considerable Interest Shown in Event; Manson Elected After Several Successive Ballots Taken.

Earle West Manson was elected president of the freshman class of Columbian College after quite a number of ballots and considerable rivalry and discussion, which characterized the annual classic in George Washington politics staged Tuesday night in Lisner Hall. The other officers elected are as follows: Vice president, Ellen M. Littlepage; secretary, Maxine Rolfe; treasurer, Nobel G. Johnson; sergeant-at-arms, Edwin A. Brown.

C. Walter Parker, Columbian College, of the Student Council, called the meeting to order and asked for nominations for president, which came thick and fast.

After several of the "Frosh" became unbearably obstreperous and questioned the authority of everybody and were uncertain as to whether they would let the earth continue to rotate on its axis, Parker called to the chair Eugene Underwood, Jr., of the Board of Managers of Student Activities. Underwood very suddenly convinced several of the gentlemen that the four seasons would continue to come and go, freshmen to the contrary notwithstanding.

"Check your artillery at the door" seemed to be the principal slogan. Cries of fraud, charges of duplication of ballots, an appeal from the decision of the presiding officer, and a threat to take the matter to the Student Council, et cetera, furnished entertainment for the large audience gathered to witness the fracas.

It has been learned that there is a good-sized piece of Dean Wilbur's table missing on account of Underwood's actions in pounding for order so frequently.

One of the new men, Stephenson, gives promise of a great career in George Washington politics if he can only be considerate enough in the future to spare the furniture.

Quite an inspiring address was made by Secretary Elmer Louis Kayser for the purpose of obtaining money for a band to help defeat Catholic University in football, and the hat was passed by Josephine Houston, with convincing results.

The newly elected president announced that he would appoint a committee on the tug-of-war in the near future, and everybody then went home happy, it is hoped, since one of the political factions picked up their marbles and left when their candidate for president was defeated.

ARCHITECTURAL SOCIETY.

The next meeting of the Architectural Society will be held Tuesday, December 7. It is announced that hereafter the meetings will be held the first Tuesday of each month.

The Architectural Society held a dance November 11, which proved to be a great success.

BOARD IN MEETING.

The Board of Managers of the University met in the office of the Director of Student Activities Wednesday noon. Student activities for the year were taken up.

TO HOLD LAW SCHOOL BANQUET.

The annual Law School banquet will be held at the Franklin Square Hotel on February 19, 1921. A committee of the Law School Senate is working on plans to make the banquet a part of the Centennial Celebration to be observed in all departments of the University.

COLUMBIAN SENIORS PLANNING BIG YEAR

Will Leave Heritage of a New Precedent of Class Memorial at University.

The Columbian seniors have started out to make the one hundredth anniversary of George Washington University a bumper year. Many novel events have been planned that will bring the senior class into even more prominence than its position in the school would normally warrant. The class is well organized; each particular phase of activity is handled by a special committee. President, Shea, of the senior class, announces the appointment of the following committees:

Social Committee—Charles F. Foley (chairman), Lella Warren, Ethel Johnson, William Preston Haynes, Harry W. Newman, Evelyn Jones, John T. Meyers.

Finance Committee—James Nolan (chairman), Margaret Smith, Arthur Gronna, William Ballinger.

Pin Committee—Kathryn Symmonds (chairman), Robert Anderson, Margaret Metzroff.

Class Memorial—William Peterson (chairman), George S. Hastings, Rebecca Perlman.

Publicity Committee—George Schisler (chairman), Josephine Huber, Earl S. Harding.

Class Editor—Olive Prescott.
The senior class is planning to start a precedent at George Washington, that of leaving a memorial at the University. This will be in the form of a portrait of some celebrator, a prize for scholarship or something of a like nature which will keep alive the memory of the class. The cost of putting through this scheme will be met by the finance committee of the class, which has arranged some novel schemes for securing funds.

Three social events have been planned with the view of raising funds to carry on the activities of the class. The senior girls will give a rummage sale down town of old clothes contributed by students in the University. Following this will be given a carnival dance, representing the days of '49. There will be a bar, where elder served in whisky glasses may be obtained. Students will have the opportunity to try their luck at the Faro board and see a little of western dance hall life without the usual dangers that are portrayed by the movies. These amusements will serve to supplement the dance and raise it above the usual monotony because it is something different. The next event to be put over by the seniors is a cabaret party. There will be a dance, eats and acts between the dances. Regular New York style cabaret.

The social committee plans to have the first social mixer of the year during the week following Thanksgiving. The exact date, however, will be made known later.

The seniors have made arrangements with the local papers so that all the activities of the class will be given ample publicity. This is handled through the publicity committee.

President Shea states that the class will spare no effort to make the senior week in June so successful that it will be an inspiration to classes of succeeding years.

MED. STUDENTS ENTERTAINED.

The students of the medical school were entertained by a one-man orchestra in the lobby of the medical building on November 12 at 12 o'clock.

The performance continued for about 45 minutes, after which a hat was passed among the pleased and applauding audience.

OPERA SUPES WANTED.

Mr. Edouard Albion, director of the Washington Opera Company, which is to produce "Aida" shortly, wants 30 George Washington men to act as "supers" for the performance. Rehearsals are going on now. Men wishing to join can report to Mr. Albion at the John Strong Thompson School, Twelfth and L Streets Northwest, November 20.

FOR WINTER TRACK.

Winter track practice will start about the first of the year. Arrangements have been about completed for a first-class place to train indoors.

WILL START GAMES.

Basketball practice is expected to start about December 1. It is expected announcements will be forthcoming from Manager Arthur Nall relative to the practice days and the place for holding games and practices shortly.

Spirit—Two Kinds

The Freshman meeting for the election of class officers was characterized by one thing—a great deal of spirit. Two kinds of spirit; first, a deep and sincere interest, the kind that is seldom seen at George Washington class meetings; the second, questionable sportsmanship and methods. The first is commendable. The classes at the University may well take an example from it. The second is entirely against the traditions of the University. Poor sportsmanship and upper class interference has no place at the University. It is difficult to say which is the greater of the two evils. But if one is worse than the other, it is upper class manipulation of candidates, votes and methods. This particularly can not be charged to the freshmen but to the upper classmen who interject their unwelcome influence into the election. Those men delegated from the Student Council or the Board of Managers to conduct the meeting are the only upper classmen who had any just authority to participate in the meeting. We can but charge the freshmen, and and only a part of them, with poor sportsmanship. This must be corrected. In fact, it is hoped it will correct itself when the freshmen have been in the University long enough to feel the force of G. W. traditions and what they mean. But the conditions whereby upper classmen interfere with freshman elections will not correct itself. It must and should be stopped. If you are a G. W. man or woman, you will make it your business to see that future elections of any sort are free from question. You will provide that mistakes are not repeated and that so far as possible poor sportsmanship and unwarranted interference is prohibited.

There's a Place for You

Some students have been heard to remark deploring the fact that the football team has not won more games. The question we ask them is, Were they out for the team. George Washington has a very large number of students. Why didn't the squad have more men? The game with the Naval Academy had to be called off. Why? Because the squad did not have enough men to spare. The football season is about over, but there are other activities. Will it be said of them as of football that so small a number came out that it could not fill its schedule? The answer is up to you. Whether you make the team or not, come out. Every person can find his place in some activity. Will you do it? Find your niche. The school needs YOU.

CAMPUS COMMENTS.

M. C. tells us that during the rush to the sorority rooms on a certain Wednesday a while back Prof. Bolwell very considerably pulled his shades down. M. C. wonders if this was because he didn't want to see how many were cutting his classes.

"Sweetie" says, "For the benefit of those who don't know, Bee Tait voted for Harding."

The question most thought of and discussed by the fair co-eds at the present time is, "Why is it that all the fraternities have dances on the same nights?"

Girls! The J. R. V. Sister Club will meet on the Back Campus daily to compare notes and submit poetry.

FREE SPEECHES.

William Lyon Phelps, professor of English literature at Yale, declares he gets credit for only 25 per cent of the after-dinner speeches he actually makes. "Every time I accept an invitation to speak, I really make four addresses. First, is the speech I prepare in advance. That is pretty good. Second, is the speech I really make. Third, is the speech I make on the way home, which is the best of all; and fourth, is the speech the newspapers next morning say I made, which bears no relation to any of the others. —New York Tribune.

In one way, at least, smoking is just like eating

THE more rich and delicious a certain food is, the more care people take to avoid eating too much of it—for instance, plum pudding or "sweets."

Similarly, many smokers avoid straight Turkish cigarettes because they are too rich. They contain too much Turkish.

But in turning to part-Turkish or Turkish Blend cigarettes, men often find a disappointing lack of taste, due to too little Turkish.

So naturally, men look for a cigarette containing just enough Turkish. And sooner or later, they "discover" Fatima.

They find that while Fatima contains less Turkish than do straight Turkish cigarettes, it contains more than any other Turkish Blend—in other words "just enough Turkish" to give them that delicious Turkish taste without any over-richness.

Try smoking "just enough Turkish."
